

ABOUT THE EDITORS

Céline Louche is an associate professor at Audencia Nantes School of Management, France. She teaches and researchers in the areas of sustainability and corporate responsibility. Her work builds from organizational, network and strategic analyses to understand how businesses transform towards sustainability. Before joining academia, she worked as Sustainability Analyst for Responsible Investment at the Dutch Sustainability Research institute/Triodos in The Netherlands.

Tessa Hebb is the Director of the Carleton Centre for Community Innovation, and Executive Director of 1125@Carleton, Carleton University, Canada. Her research focuses on Responsible Investment and Impact Investment is funded by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council, Government of Canada.

Dr. Hebb is a member of the steering committees of the UN-backed PRI Academic Network, the Heartland Network, Canadian Business Ethics Research Network, the Canadian Social Investment Organization and the Impact Investing Policy Collaborative. She has published many books and articles on responsible investing and impact investing policies including the volumes Working Capital: the Power of Labor's Pensions; No Small Change: Pension Fund Corporate Engagement; and The Next Generation of Responsible Investing.