

It has come to the attention of the publisher that the article, “Real-time analysis of Cyprus” embryonic oil and gas industry”, by Alkis Thrassou which appeared in EuroMed Journal of Business, Vol. 11 No. 3, contained large sections of text and figures taken from other works previously published by the author, which were not referenced. The EuroMed Journal of Business author guidelines make it clear that any work previously published or under consideration by another publisher must be clearly referenced. The figures have been removed from the online article, and references have been added. The author sincerely apologises for this error.

