

1046

It has been brought to the attention of the publisher that the same article Manning, P. (2018), “Behavioural economics and social economics: opportunities for an expanded curriculum”, International Journal of Social Economics, <https://doi.org/10.1108/IJSE-04-2018-0225> has been published twice with different DOIs (<https://doi.org/10.1108/IJSE-04-2018-0225> and <https://doi.org/10.1108/IJSE-05-2018-0250>). This error was introduced in the editorial process, and the second paper has now been removed. Emerald sincerely apologises to the authors for any inconvenience caused. When citing the article, the citation should be given as Manning, P. (2018), “Behavioural economics and social economics: opportunities for an expanded curriculum”, International Journal of Social Economics, <https://doi.org/10.1108/IJSE-05-2018-0250>

